SIR KNIGHTS MARCH.

FLOWING, THE DECORATIONS

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR MARCH.

A Grand Day in Boston and Brilliant Scenes.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]

Boston, Aug. 27.—Today witnessed a very prominent event in the great Knights Templar convocation in this city, the monster parade. All conditions were auspicious for the demonstration. The sun's rays obscured by a thick haze and a refreshing western breeze tempered the summer heat.

Early Morning Scenes.

Early morning scenes in the city streets were inspiring. Tens of thousands of Knights Templar, resplendent in uniform and regalia, were hastening hither and thither to gain their commanderies in preparation for the march. Early in the morning trains and street cars poured other tens of thousands of visitors from surrounding places into Boston's already crowded thoroughfares.

Magnificent Decorations.

The city has seldom, if ever, been so elaborately decorated. Practically every building along the line of march, besides many of the side streets is clothed in color, with appropriate mottoes and masonic emblems intertwined with streamers and bunting. The elaborate decorations have been the admiration of the arriving multitudes for several days.
This morning uniforms, flags, badges and the streets rivalled the bunting overhead in vividness of hue.

The Immense Crowds.

The note everywhere was one of joyfulness and celebration. Brothers everywhere greeted brothers cordially. The color and movement and music made the city a brilliant dashing picture of life, with its crowded sidewalks, its long lines of orderly moving street cars, its miles of windows, story above story, filled with eager spectators, its numerous observation stands—some of them of enormous proportions—early crowded with occupants, and resembling with the open spaces between vast amphitheatres filled with expectant populace.

A Brilliant Scene.

One needed only a tinge of dreaming sentiment to imagine time turned backward twenty or more centuries in its flight and the scenes of some famous Roman triumph reproduced, the mighty conqueror moving at the head of his embattled hosts amid the plaudits of his countrymen.

The slight cloud cast over the event by the action of the St. John's commandery of Providence was cleared away by their final consent to march in the greatest pogon seen in Boston streets since the high water mark of the Grand Army procession of 1890.

The Procession Formed.

The procession began forming in thirteen divisions at 9 a. m. At 10.30 the three guns announcing the start of the parade, were fired, followed by the command by a bugle sounded by Sir Knight Abbott Horton of DeMalay commandery, the bugler on General Lawrence's staff.
General Lawrence was accompanied by Sir Edward Weston Nichols, Mayor Curtis and Sir Knight Charles Pierce, of the Boston commandery. The Boston commandery acted as escort and were preceded by the aids led by Sir Knight Charles C. Frye, chief of the staff.

Before the Reviewing Stands.

The column was reviewed at Columbus square by M. W. E. B. Holmes, grand master of masons in Massachusetts; at Blackstone square by M. E. Grand Master Hugh McCurdy and the officers and members of the grand encampment of Knights Templar of the United States and by his Excellency, Gov. Greenhalge.
The column was reviewed at Adams square on Washington street by R. E. Sir S. C. Lawrence, Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island and by Chief Marshal of the parade and his honor, Sir E. U. Curtis, mayor of the city of Boston.

Lamont today issued orders for the addition of another star, the forty-fifth, ritory which will attain statehood July 4,

So It Is Announced.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.] WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.—It was announced today that Hon. Matt. W.
Ransom of North Carolina had been reappointed minister to Mexico. The position had been declared vacant by Acting constitutional.

storehouse of Tremont and Suffolk cotton mills last night has been placed at $50,000.

MIND READER IS ALL RIGHT.

DRIVING BLINDFOLDED ABOUT NORTH ADAMS' STREETS.

To Find an Object Hidden by a Committee in the Rear of the Episcopal Church.

Prof. Andrew J. Seymour, the famous mind reader, is no fake. Hundreds turned out on the streets this noon to see if he was or was not, and they found that he was an honest mind reader.

Yesterday a committee composed of A.
B. Wright, Cashier Wilkinson, W. H.
Chase and H. G. Rowe were appointed to secret some article, anywhere they chose and test Mr. Seymour's ability to find it.
Today at noon these gentlemen met at Burt's drug store and saw the man who was to enter their minds and steal their secrets. A short session of the committee and Prof. Seymour in a rear room was held "just to get a gauge of the different minds and get them working in the same line." Mr. Seymour found the location of two scars beneath the clothing of two of the gentlemen, by placing his hands on their foreheads or at the back of the head. These tests were absolutely honest and he located the spots on the body.
Then the committee drove about several streets, stopping in several places, and hid a picture of McKinley and Reed under a door step in the rear of a house back of the Episcopal church. Only they knew where it was. Returning to Bartlett's store, Mr. Seymour, after trying to locate the general direction by grasping the hand of all the gentlemen of the committee separately while each thought intently of the direction and he played a sort of piano tune on the back of the head with his fingers, himself blindfolded, and in a state of weak, mesmerized condition, as he told the writer. Mounting the carriage seal blindfolded, Mr. Seymour recklessly drove up Main street and Eagle street incidentally soaring every occupant of the carriage, all of whom would have been glad to resign their official capacities as mesmeric subjects.

In front of St. Francis church another long test was made of all the gentlemen.
A new direction was given Mr. Seymour.
Again mounting the driver's seat, and again scanning all his passengers, he started pell mell back down Eagle. By Rie's drug store another test was made, and the mid-reading driver drove down Main and up Bank. By the Treasurer's office another test was made, and at once Hon.
A. B. Wright was led captive up Bank on to Summer street and a stop made in front of the Episcopal church. Then by a long search down along the little alley leading to the rear of the church, step by step, Mr. Seymour approached the hidden picture, while a solid mass of men and boys crowded and pushed around.
Finally he picked the object from a hole under a door step of the church sexton's home.

There's the whole story. He did it honestly. Hon. A. B. Wright had a mind so intent on Tom Reed's picture that he made a good subject. Indeed, Mr. Wright thinks any one ought to go straight to Reed in these days. But it was a fair, square test and Mr. Seymour is an honest mind reader.

Four Men Seared.

The committee on Prof. Seymour, the mind reader, and his mesmeric powers feel compelled to say to the street commissioner that that hole on Main street is a very bad thing with a blindfolded driver in a mesmerized state and tearing allow town at neck-break speed to find a little hole under a back porch. Cover up that hole. It scared a year's growth out of four men today.

Important For Mothers.

Cow's milk is almost at the bottom of the list of the food substances that contain iron. As it is so important to infant life Professor Bunge has been led to experiment on animals to see in what proportion iron is present in the system at different ages. He finds that the younger animals contain much more iron than adults. In a guinea pig or rabbit an hour, for instance, there is more than four times as much iron as in the same animal 2 1/2 months old.
He infers from this that a long, continued exclusive milk diet is not good for babies, but should be supplemented by wheat preparations.—New York Sun.

One of the Oldest Bicycle Girls.

The oldest lady wheeler yet heard of in the bicycle world is Mrs. William Elmer of Cabauze, wife of the Rev. Mr.
Elmer. She has been riding for some months, and although a lady of some years past the half century mark is as graceful as many of her younger contemporaries.—St. Louis Republic.

Paradoxical Nomenclature.

Talking about names, the combination of Irish & English, the furniture dealers, has always served them as a good advertisement. Singular to say, however, Mr. Irish is English and Mr.
English is Irish.—Buffalo Times.

Not Likely to Be True.

The rumor that Edison is writing a novel is probably false. Mr. Edison's active advertising department should give him all the literary occupation he cares for.—Washington Star.

ams Is Close at Hand.

Genuine and Wonderful.

Andrew J. Seymour, the world's greatest mind reader, human thought magnet and spirit medium, has stirred up the scientifically inclined at a great rate. Mr.
Seymour is a psychological wonder, as he has demonstrated since his arrival in St.
Paul. His power as a mind reader is marvelous, and is entirely inexplicable upon any known law of physical force. He will tell your most secret thoughts. His spirit demonstrations do positively convince the most skeptical. When asked the secret of his powers he will answer, "I do not know. I only know that I possess it."—St. Paul Daily Globe.

Mr. Seymour will be at the Columbia opera house Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, August 27, 28 and 29.

REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT QUESTION.

Last week the TRANSCRIPT editorially favored the plan of separate representative districts for this coming city and the town of Williamstown. It took this ground on these considerations; that North Adams has a right to all that belongs to her; her population with that of Clarkburg (and possible Florida), and the town's present rapid growth justify entirely as one community to two representatives in the General Court. North Adams has as much representation in Boston as she can have; with Clarkburg, which town should be kept in closest relations with us and is really a part of this town, North Adams is undoubtedly entitled to two representatives.

That is the first and foremost consideration. There is our right, and common wisdom dictates accepting it.

But it seems that some (we don't believe there are many) who favor a plan whereby North Adams would not get what belongs to her. That is not North Adams style as a rule, but the Sunday Democrat seems to favor such a course. It says a double district is an "infliction." But it is very solicitous about Williamstown.

What will become of poor Williamstown?

Now there is no infliction to North Adams certainly in having two representatives continuously in the General Court. But what about Williamstown, if we assume that the policy of looking out for home interests that is a pretty good plan? The fact is, that Williamstown does not enjoy representative assolation with North Adams in any degree and never will. That is admitted. Williamstown is tired of being overshadowed by North Adams, just as North Adams is tired of Williamstown's occasional political claims, even if just, as was the case last fall. Furthermore, as to the population of the Williamstown district, if necessary, the county commissioners may be able to find some fairer adjustment of the Third Berkshire district (the shoe-string district) with a population of less than 900, than to leave Williamstown with its 5000 people practically unrepresented as at present, or let a part of representative district go unrepresented.

But that is a matter for the commissioners to settle. The matter for North Adams is to get what belongs to her.

There is where North Adams people ought to stand and the Democrat, too.

But a new panacea is suggested. Next year when this town is divided into city wards, the Democrat advocates this plan:

"When the redistricting is to be done,

North Adams will be divided into seven wards. What then is to prevent putting an end to the double district folly, and having part of the town a district by itself, and the other wards part of another district?" Here is the objection. It would give this town no district representation of its own, more than before.

Any portion of Williamstown taken to complete the second district and join to our wards would again be outnumbered and overshadowed by North Adams portion.

Then the rest of Williamstown added to another district would be the smaller part of that district. Where is Williamstown's advantage in this? It would be a case of croquet between two thieves, if there ever was a second case. How by this plan, can the Democrat satisfy and sensibly say in the same article "let Williamstown have a district of its own, if possible, where it can be the big toad in the puddle." Where is the "district of its own" for Williamstown in this plan?

Williamstown would be the small town in two puddles and on a lively jump in both not to be annually devoured.

Oh, no. This plan won't work. It is not "in the direction of honest politics," as the Democrat suggested, but in the direction of an annual representative squabble, with no one properly represented.

The fact remains of North Adams rightful claims and interests. That is first and sufficient in itself. The next fact is of Williamstown's right, as a larger town, to occupy a portion of proper influence in a representative district.

We repeat from a former editorial urging independent districts for Williamstown and North Adams: "North Adams is entitled to this arrangement. It will hold her and Clarkburg together. It will take us out of a constant political muddle. Williamstown would be pleased.

Let us have two representatives when the reapportionment is made."

"LET THERE BE LIGHT."

The Greenfield Gazette speaks of Ashley

B. Wright as "the level-headed congressman from North Adams," and disclaims any knowledge of any designs on his present congressional holdings. Who has been making all this conculsor noise, anyway? These political plottings and rumors of plottings about trading congressional seats against conculsor seats are strange stories.—North Adams Transcript.

There is a good deal of force in what the Transcript says, and it applies to other than the congressional district. We could let in some light upon other playings and trading and time may come when such light will be shed. A chapter on "How Nominations are Obtained" would be interesting reading.—Great Barrington Gazette.

Let in the light, Colonel Bliss. Let such a searching light be shed as struck the wicked Saul down on his way up to Damascus. Colonel, Colonel, why persecute us with thy hints and insinuations of ways that are dark and tricks that are vain? Come right out. Why stand threatening like an approaching thunder storm? Let in some of that light at once.

We will let it shine through our columns, and label it "Great Barrington light."

You sound dangerous and mysterious in these threatnings. What does it mean?

Shed away, Colonel. Let there be light quicker, and let every political Saul be struck to the ground.

Representative Irwin having decided to be a candidate for the senate, it will be necessary to select a new man to represent the city in the house next winter. It will not be an easy matter to fill Mr. Irwin's place, as he has made in his two years of service there a fine record. He could easily be re-elected if he chose to be a candidate for the house again. But he thinks he has served there his full share and if he goes to the state house again he would prefer to go to the senate. He will receive a hearty and practically unanimous support in this section of the district, and his resignation seems to be assured from the start.—Hampshire Gazette.

The first name sent into the TRAN-SCRIPT as that of a Republican candidate for the legislature, is a name not to be found in the directory. Oh no, smarties sender of the same, the Republican candidate will be a live man and no myth.

Put a pin there.

While not alarming, yet typhoid fever is reported as increasing, not only in this town, but in Adams and Cheshire as well.

This is the time for typhoid fever, and it is the time for the Board of Health to act.

And now Lord Roseberry is in danger of being removed from the leadership of his party. A man never gets down but what is very likely to get further down.

Boston is one blaze of Knights' Templar glory. The Boston newspapers say that it is impossible to tell the story of all the glory there is now in the Hub.

UNEXPECTED DELAY.

The Work of Ice Making Not to Begin so

Soon as Expected.

C. F. Briggs & Co. have met with an unexpected delay in getting their ice plant in operation. The machinery is all in position and the trouble is with the boilers that furnish the steam power. There are two forty-horse power boilers that have been in use in the mill for years. They are insured by the Hartford Steam Boiler insurance company, which last year allowed them to run at a pressure of seventy pounds. The year for which they were insured expires September 1, and last week they were inspected with a view to insurance for another year. The inspector would not allow the old pressure to be carried, and this curtailment leaves the company with not enough power to run the ice plant in connection with their other machinery. In consequence a new boiler must be put in and this, Mr. Briggs says, will take about six weeks. The two old boilers will be taken out and a new 100-horse power boiler will take their place. This will furnish abundant power for all the machinery.

This delay is much regretted by the company, which expected to be making ice by this time or before. If the old boilers could have been run at the old pressure they would have furnished sufficient power, and it was supposed they could so run until the inspection was made last week. Mr. McDonald, who set up the ice plant, has gone home, but will return after the new boiler is in and set the machinery in motion.

TO MANUFACTURE HATS.

A Connecticut Firm Looking for an Opening in This Town.

Hayes & Mullan of Bethel, Conn., are in North Adams looking for suitable quarters for a branch of their hat manufacturing business. They have a hat factory at Bethel and believe that a branch establishment here would prove profitable. Their idea is to do only finishing work in this town, and to ship the hats from the factory in the rough to be finished here. They are now taking orders for hats in order to introduce themselves and their goods. They state that their goods are all hand made by union workmen and are guaranteed to give satisfaction. Their price for stiff hats is $1.75 and for soft hats $1.25 in black or brown.

They say they have already taken eighty-five orders, and they believe if they can find suitable quarters here that they will be able to build up a good trade in this and neighboring towns. A hat factory here, even if not a large one, would be an acceptable addition to the town's industries and it is to be hoped that this firm will find an opening and locate here.

America's Greatest Corporation.

Figures reaching beyond the millions portray but little in type to the imagination. There is one corporation in America whose assets are simply stupendous. Its resources are absolutely startling. It is the best managed as well as the largest company in the world today, and is a monument to American genius and glamour. Its managers exercise far potent powers of our youthful dreams; they are plain American citizens who work hard every day of their business lives.

The magnitude of the Mutual Life Insurance company's business cannot be realized by a mere perusal of its annual statement. The modern war vessel cost about $3,000,000. The Mutual Life company could buy a fleet of sixty vessels like the famous cruiser New York and have $22,- 000,000 left for incidentals. The company are fortunate in securing for their representative for this part of Berkshire so reliable a man as William H. Woodhead as special agent.

Pittsfield's Ball Team May Disband.

The Republican is authority for the statement that it is probable that the Stanley baseball nine of Pittsfield will soon disband for lack of encouragement.

The team has been run at considerable loss the past few weeks because there are no good clubs in the vicinity. Some of the players are willing to hold together for awhile at reduced salaries, and the matter will probably be settled today.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in Our Neighbor Towns.

ADAMS.

At the Mill.

It is interesting to watch the method by which the excavations are being made on the Hoosac street side of the new mill. A large platform has been erected alongside the road, with the surface about eight feet from the ground. On the side next to the road an inclined chute runs from the top at an angle of about thirty-five degrees. Under this chute the wagons take their stand. A large derrick is connected with a steam hoisting engine. In the hole are workmen, busily filling big square boxes with earth. When one of the boxes is full three chains are attached to the box, the engine is started and up comes the box. Under the guidance of two men it reaches the platform where another workman loosens a chain and the earth is in a very few seconds in the wagon. Another box is full by this time. The chains are transferred and by a repetition of the operation the next wagon is sent on its way to the dump.

Another hoisting engine of the latest improved style is lying on a flat car in the freight yard and will be transported to the site at once.

The big steam pump worked for a time today and poured out the water from the deep trench in a rushing stream.

Miss Susie Phillips of this town, who has taught school in Everett the past two years, has been appointed to fill the vacancy in number 1, Commercial street.

A handsome silverware service is to be given away by the Southington Medicine company before leaving town, may be seen in the show window of James T. Baker's shoe store.

C. F. Sayles surveyed and staked out the boundary lines of the Renfrew Manufacturing company's Dean street property.

Edward Dayette who sold out his milk route the other day, will continue in the vegetable business for a while and deal in nursery goods for Steele of Rochester.

The trolley cars can run south no further than Maple street, at Dr. Boom's residence. On account of the moving of Patrick Tompkins' building the wires had to be removed and Superintendent Neary cut off his wire just above Maple street.

Henry Fidler was riding his wheel over the Centre street bridge early last evening, when three or four teams got mixed up in such a way that one of them was sure to run him down unless he jumped. He did so and left his wheel in the road. The wheel was not damaged very badly.

The often continued case of Louis Beseau charged with assaulting an old man in Cheshire sometime ago, was again continued this morning until September 24.

The question of ownership of the liquors recently seized by the officers from Eli Reeves, which was to have been considered in court this morning, was continued until Monday.

Six pieces of property owned by James A. Allen were sold at the tax collector's office this morning for tax arrears.

Mr. Allen paid on four pieces and the other two cases were postponed until August 30.

The Hustlers and Summer streets played a game of baseball on the Valley grounds, Monday afternoon, which resulted in an overwhelming defeat for Summer street. The score was 38 to 5. Plunkett and Mack were the Hustler battery and Sumner brothers did the honors for Summer street.

The sale of property owned by James A. Allen for mortgages held by the South Adams Savings bank, were continued until September 3, at 10.30 and 11 o'clock a. m., at the premises on Mill and Summer streets respectively.

Danaheron's Commemorial street battery was sold out this morning to a Williams town man.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

A List of the School Teachers.

The following is a list of the appointments as it was given out Monday afternoon by Chairman Tenney of the school board. Principal of the high school, H. A. Strong of Winsted, Conn.; first assistant, Miss Mary J. Orton, West Winsted, Conn.; second assistant, W. E. Foster, Williams, '98, of Keene, N. H. Mr. Foster has had several years of experience and comes highly recommended. He will have charge of the Latin. Grammar A, Miss Mary A. Quinn; Grammar B, Miss Mary Gavitt; Intermediate, Miss Milla Kraft; primary A, Miss Anna Brookman; primary B, Miss Anna Whelden; primary C, Miss Elizabeth Smith; primary D, Miss Clara K. Maynard; station school, Miss Julia Kellogg, Miss Mary Welch and Miss Judd; Sherwood, Miss Belle Gardner; northwest hill, Miss Daisy M. Bardeck; south center, Miss Abbie Calusha; Buckton, Miss Winifred A. Mullen; Broad Brook, Miss Emma Whitney and Miss Stella Danforth; Hemlock Brook, Mrs. Louise McDonald; Hopper, Miss Annie Rowley; South Williamstown, Miss Belle McClean. Mr. Tenney said that the line for the station house had not been decided yet but would probably be as follows: All children living on Cole avenue as well as all children living north of the Hoosac river will be obliged to go to the station school. This certainly would be a much fairer line than the one talked of before.

A Race Track.

Rev. William Stocking will deliver three lectures in the Methodist church under the direction of the Y.P.A.C.E. society of that church. The first will be on Friday evening August 30, subject, "Persians and Armenians." The second will be on Monday evening September 2, subject, "An object lesson on the Orient." It will close with a grand wedding ceremony in which ten persons will appear in Persian costumes. The third lecture will be delivered on Wednesday evening September 4, subject, "A Grand Panorama of the Civil War." All the lectures will be accompanied by stereoscopic views.

Williams Loses Two Good Ends.

It has just been learned that Williams will lose two of her best football players from the team this year. J. J. Ryan of North Adams who played an excellent game for Williams last year will be unable to return to college and William C. Bradley of Nyack, N. Y., who received injuries to his knee last season will be unable to play again. Both of these men gave promise of becoming "star" ends and it is a pity that Williams must lose them.

Prof. O. M. Fernald who has been in Kansas for some length of time in the interest of Williams college has returned home.

The choir in the Congregational church which has been enjoying a month's vacation will begin singing again next Sunday. The first rehearsal will be held Wednesday evening.

Rev. C. B. F. Pease of West Troy, N. Y., is visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Charles S. Cole. Mr. Pease preached in Adams Sunday.

R. F. Graham's building lot on Southworth avenue has been sold to Mr. Russell of Haverhill, Mass. The price is not known but is supposed to be something over $1500.

E. L. Watson and family will take rooms in James Lawrence's house on Southworth avenue until Mr. Wells' house on Main street is finished.

Mrs. A. Rand of North Adams is visiting Mrs. Z. Tyler at the Hotel Williams.

Miss Catharine Danaher has returned from a visit in North Adams.

Summer Prindle of Cohoes, N. Y., who has been spending a week with his parents in this town, returned home Monday.

The farm utensils and live stock belonging to the Sabin house property at South Williamstown will be sold at public auction tomorrow morning.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. Several persons will be received into the church and others will be baptized.

Rev. J. P. Haller of Niverville, N. Y., is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hall.

The freight business in the Fitchburg railroad yards was practically at a standstill yesterday on account of the Knight Templar excursions to Boston. About twenty special trains bearing the gallant Sir Knights passed through town Sunday and it is said that twice that number will go through today.

Fred C. Severance is attending the Knight Templar convocation at Boston.

Mrs. Chloe Bingham's barn on Main street was totally destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. The loss was about $300 and there was no insurance. The fire department responded to the alarm very promptly but the flames had gained great headway and their efforts were unavailing. It is thought that the fire was set by some tramp. Mrs. Bingham is in poor circumstances and can ill afford to bear the loss.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Brockway of Pasadena, Cal., are visiting at D. N. White's.

Mrs. S. C. Pratt is on the sick list.

Mrs. F. H. Daniels visited her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Payne in Troy last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans have returned to their home in Springfield.

Homer White is visiting friends in Troy.

F. A. Stuppeler of Hudson, N. Y., was in town Sunday.

The town is quite seriously threatened with a water famine and both reservoirs are dangerously low. The water company has found it necessary to restrict the use to some extent.

The old station school house and lot will be sold at public auction next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The lot is a very desirable one; the building would make an excellent hall and the sale should realize a good sum for the sale.

On the return of Lawyer C. M. Smith, the guardian of the estate, the old Williams place on East Main street, will be sold at public auction. Mrs. Williams is now in the Northampton insane asylum and the proceeds of the sale will be for her maintenance there.

Work was begun on the permanent road yesterday. Overseer George P. Carpenter has about ten men at work.

The selectmen have decided to extend the Charityville sewer to the Hoosac river.

SOUTH WILLIAMSTOWN.

Miss Mary Sanford of Stamford, Vt., has been visiting her brother, W. H. Sanford. She returned home Sunday.

Miss Ruth Mills of Pittsfield who has been visiting friends here returned home last week.

Mrs. Edward White and daughter of Wardboro, Vt., are visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank S. Young of this place.

Miss Julia Young is spending a few days in Pittsfield.

James McLean met with quite an accident Saturday while ascending a coil attached to a road cart. The animal became frightened and ran, demolishing the cart and throwing Mr. McLean against a tree bruising him badly. The animal ran through a wire fence before being caught, but was not injured.

Mr. C. C. Northrup, who has been sick the past week, is slowly improving.

The yield of oats in this section is a good one, averaging over fifty bushels to the acre. Many fields of potatoes are being ruined by the potato bugs, the vines being completely covered by them. Why not use the paris green again, and so save the pests from the long cold winter.

Frank Ames and wife of Lanesboro visited Mrs. F. P. Galesbee last week. Mr. Ames for a long term of years drove the stage from Williamstown to Pittsfield. He made several calls on his old friends in this place.

The Misses Hewitt of Petersburg, N. Y., who have been visiting Mrs. C. R. Loring, returned home Saturday.

Ninety persons attended the Sunday school picnic at Pontonoco lake last week.

Mrs. Thomas Sabin will sell her stock and some other things at auction Wednesday and will soon move to Williamstown.

The drouth is pretty severe, though not so bad as that of a year ago, yet many wells and springs are dry and the streams are very low.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Noyes and Mr. and Mrs. Moses Noel of Williamstown called on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Drew of Dalton called on relatives and friends in town Sunday.

Sunday was a beautiful day and there was much driving through this place, while wheelmen were very numerous. The usual large number of guests were entertained at the Idlewild.

The corn crop promises well. There is a big crop of pears and many apple trees are well loaded.

A party from this place recently spent two weeks in camp at Pontonoco lake and a very pleasant time.

BRAYTONVILLE.

When T. C. O'Connor was about to close the store last evening, and was turning out the lights, the lamp over the candy case dropped to the floor, the oil from the broken lamp catching fire, it looked for some time as though the flames would get ahead of several who were hard at work. When they were about to give up and ring the fire alarm O'Connor threw on a couple of overcoats which happened to be hanging near, and succeeded in smothering the flames. The damages are very slight.

Mrs. Martin Fallon is quite ill at the home of Mr. Fallon's parents on West Main street.

John Phillips, a weaver in the mill who resides at Blackinton, has accepted a position, at Providence, R. I.

HUBS GALA DAY.

Army of Knights Parade Her Streets.

A GRAND SPECTACLE

Witnessed by a Most Enthusiastic Multitude.

Visitors From Far and Near Tax the City to Its Utmost Capacity.

Boston, Aug. 27.—Boston has surrendered to an invading army, and is absolutely in the power of 35,000 Knights Templar. These, with the ladies accompanying them, and the immense throng of visitors attracted to the hub of the conclave and low railroad rates have swelled the city's population to such an extent as to cause one to wonder if all the inhabitants of Greater Boston have been forced inside the city's limits.

Commanderies have arrived from north, south, east and west; from the rock-bound coast of Maine; from the other side of the snow-capped Sierras; from the vast plains of the great northwest, and from the hand of the cotton field and cane brake. By hundreds and by fifties they have come, in coach, parlor car, sleeper and special, until there is assembled under the shadow of the state house's gilded dome an army the like of which in splendor and good fellowship has never been seen before in Boston.

CHIEF MARSHAL LAWRENCE.

The entire city has donned a holiday dress, and on every hand are seen flags, banners, gaily colored streamers, and flashing lights greet the eye at night. Immense numbers of incandescent lights have been arranged to represent almost any known Masonic emblem. The Masonic Temple decorations are, of course, the most elaborate, the principal feature being a huge outline cross of colored lights, covering almost the entire front of the building. The Albion building is not far behind, and all along Newspaper row the occupants extend a welcome to the Sir Knights in a blaze of light.

Many grand stands were erected, and the building inspectors closely examined every structure, and condemned many as being unsafe. All these were placarded with official notices, and no one was allowed to occupy them.

The different hotels, where the large commanderies are making their headquarters have been jammed to the doors. Each commandery has been keeping open house, and a constant stream of humanity in black and gold regalia has been pouring in and out.

The Parade.

Many thousands of Knights Templar are marching in grand review before tens of thousands of spectators today. Such a gorgeous spectacle, horse and foot, will not be seen again in this city for years to come.

Commandery drill halls—from Maine to California—few weeks past have been in constant use, and under competent drill masters the Sir Knights have been put through a course of "sponties" which won for them the enthusiastic plaudits of the multitude on the line of march.

The street maneuvers include the formation of a variety of emblems, symbolic of Templarism, and are being executed with a precision only made possible by close application to the practice drills. The little boys of "Little Commandery" from Louisville emulated the example set by its great body of guardians, and Zerubbabel IV, pet bear of the California Templars, is a conspicuous feature of the 11th division.

The line was formed, right resting on Commonwealth avenue, at 9 a. m., and the parade started at 10. Twenty-five thousand Sir Knights were in line, to say nothing of the 1600 musicians.

The route is as follows: Commonwealth avenue, from Exeter street to Arlington, Arlington street to Boylston street, Boylston street to Huntington avenue, Copple square, Huntington avenue to Dartmouth street, Dartmouth street to Columbus avenue, Columbus avenue to Massachusetts avenue, Massachusetts avenue to Washington street, Washington street to Hancock street.

Reviewed at Columbus square by Most Worshipful Edwin B. Holmes, grand master of Masons in Massachusetts; at Blackstone square by Most Eminent Grand Master Hugh McCurdy, the officers and members of the grand encampment of the United States, and Governor Grechhalge; at Adams square by Eminent Sir Samuel C. Lawrence, grand commander of Rhode Island and chief marshal of the parade, and Sir Edwin U. Curtis, mayor of Boston.

The chiefs of divisions and aids were designated as follows:

How Yesterday Was Spent.

The population of Boston was swelled yesterday by the arrival of 30,000 Knights Templar and ladies, and by the advent of 50,000 suburbanites who came to look at these wonderful Sir Knights.

All the day long, from sunrise to midnight yesterday, there was heard the sound of martial music. "How they come!" Down the streets came columns of men, marching with admirable precision. The white plumes of their chapeaux, the glitter of their swords and their brilliant flung made them conspicuous a long way off. Some of them were headed by bands of their own. Others were met by bands at the depot. Companies of the Boston commanderies marched with them, pilot-ing them through the devious ways from depot to hotel.

Sometimes these marching Templars were so large as to require police escort. They came so thick and fast that the bands were in sound of each other.

The street traffic was seriously interrupted, there being intricate jams of cars. The truckmen tolled lustily, carting large loads of baggage and hurrying back for more. A great crowd of suburbanites stepped up and down the streets, till it looked like Christmas shopping. As the coming of night set many free, the street throng increased. By day the city was brilliant in decorations. By night the betwixting electrical displays glowed like patches in a fairy garden.

There was no official recognition of the conclave, the day being devoted to quartering new arrivals, to sightseeing and to
